

Habasit products keep the tobacco industry rolling

In the tobacco industry, one of the key factors for success is the belting. From green leaf processing, primary processing to secondary manufacturing and logistic equipment – each process requires its own specially designed set of products. We at Habasit care for improvement. A working system is one thing. Tailor-made belts and chains by Habasit go further. To provide all-in-one solutions that work even better.

Founded in 1946, we at Habasit have cared for the special and individual needs of our customers for over 60 years. This outstanding experience has made us a world leader in innovative solutions, process improvement, service and support. Habasit means best products, optimal processing and a global network of over 300 partners to ensure the fastest support and service you may wish for.

From green leaf processing to packaging the sales-ready cigarette, a diverse and wide range of conveyor and processing belts, conveyor chains, timing belts and gear motors play together.

- made of Polyolefine and Polyester,
- Pyrolysis-conformable and physiologically safe,
- with a pure coating and product construction meeting the ever-increasing safety standards
- to form polyvalent products that win the match.

Being the world's No. 1 in belting, of course, goes beyond providing the best products for all needs. It lies in making our customers come first. That's why we believe in partnership: in assisting, assembling and installation, monitoring, inspection and optimization proposals. Installing a production site using Habasit's products means allying with the strongest belting partner in the world. And to profit from all our experience. Your success is our profession.

Our partners are located in virtually every part of the world. So if you need support, you may wonder how fast our technicians will knock on your door. Within one day, we are there to ensure the flawless production of your site. And in the back of our truck we have the newest solutions.

Deciding for Habasit's products saves costs, improves your processes even more and reduces waste. And if there is anything more you may wish for, we will come up with a solution – fast, safe and without hassle. So Habasit is truly a one-stop-shop for your business – saving overall costs and time while ensuring the greatest stability and continuity of production.

The world's best belting products. Optimal and fast consulting, fabrication and installation. The best worldwide 24/7 support you can possibly get. Understanding our customers needs. No wonder we are the world's number 1 in belting today. And no wonder we keep tobacco rolling – every day, all year long.
